One of our favorite discoveries is located down a private, winding road behind a gated entrance. Here we find a luxurious 14,000-square-foot home on 96-acres of pristine Oregon land. Designed with low horizontal lines in mind and flagstone details, this home blends in with its surrounding environment. "What's most breathtaking about this property is the jaw dropping, nearly 360-degree view of the Columbia River Gorge scenic area complimented by some of the sparkling city lights of Portland in the distance," says Tammy Beckley, agent with Sotheby's Real Estate and Portland's Finest Homes. While the cherry wood and travertine interior design details may seem to have a woman's touch, but the 14-car heated garage is the perfect refuge for the devout auto collector. The 8,000-square-foot covered commercial outbuilding suited for storing heavy equipment such as backhoe's, tractors, boats, and jet skis. Or, could be perfect for the production of wine or easily transformed into an equ...

ABOUT TAMMY BECKLEY

Before moving to Portland, Tammy owned her own successful luxury real estate firm on the beautiful Southern Oregon coast. Deciding to move and become a Portland Sothebys real estate agent was easy because a love affair with Portland drew Tammy to this amazing city! She moved to Portland when an opportunity presented itself to join the Cascade Sotheby's International Realty
